

Weekly Learning Reflections

Good afternoon class Astute and Families!

This week the children have continued their narrative writing inspired by The Firework Maker's Daughter. We have looked closely at the character Razavani and have created expand noun phrases centred around him. Today, we used a story map to plan the back story of Razavani. Here we explored many possible ideas and shared vocabulary we would use to describe him. Some great and imaginative language was create 😊

Maths saw us learning time this week, focusing on o'clock, quarter past, quarter to and half past. Once the children gained an understanding and grew in confidence, we moved onto 5-minute intervals. As you know, class Astute love a good song to help them in their leaning. I would love to know if they have remembered it, so please ask them to sing it to you this weekend!

For PE, now that they children have mastered the one to step when catching the ball, they started to practise their defending and intercepting skills. The children applied their previous learning of starting and stopping when sprinting to do this. They also had to focus and listen carefully to the sound of their opponent move so that they could predict where they would move next. Great job today class Astute!

And now for the stars of the week!

Teacher star of the week goes to George for his focus, perseverance and independence within his learning - in particular, telling the time. George has also been a role model for behaving considerately this week both in class and around the school – a fantastic efforts. Well done George!

Class star of the week goes to Harriet for her kindness and perseverance. Harriet treats everybody in class Astute with respect and consideration and will always persevere with a smile on her face. Well done Harriet!

I hope you all have a wonderful weekend 😊
