

Weekly Learning Reflections

Another week complete and somehow, we are at the end of the penultimate week before half-term. Continuing to work hard and show good attitudes, the children have been focusing on a variety of subjects and challenging themselves to complete tricky tasks.

Having complete the plans for their persuasive letters, the children have moved on to being writing their letters. We have focused on the introduction and first paragraph so far, looking at how we can persuasive techniques in and how to improve the quality of the sentences. There has been some fantastic language used and some really interesting designs created!

This week has seen the focus turn to more problem-solving work with multiplication and division. We have looked at a range of missing number problems and used our tables knowledge to help us fill in the blanks. It has been great to see the children using a variety of strategies and working out what way works best for them.

History, Science, Computing and PSHE have all continued this week as well. We have explored areas such as how Christianity arrived in Britain, the factors that affect evaporation rates, what bots are and how to stay safe when going online. There has been a lot of fantastic discussion and the children have engaged and challenged themselves to showcase their understanding in each subject.

★ ★ ★ STARS OF THE WEEK ★ ★ ★

Pupil Star of the Week - ★ Jack ★

Jack was chosen as Star of the Week with the children asked to focus on kindness and consideration. The class recognised Jack's kindness and how he always considers others and how he can help them. It is clear from the children's votes that everyone recognises how kind he is and that he treats everyone in class exactly the same, whether they are a close friend or not. Fantastic reasons Jack, keep up the super work!

Teacher Star of the Week - ★ Alysia ★

This week I have chosen Alysia as my Star of the Week. Alysia always shows great perseverance in her learning and approaches everyday with maturity and responsibility. She challenges herself to be the best she can be, consistently applies herself to her learning and is always there to support others when they need it. Alysia sets an excellent example of how a model student should be and puts her own personal spin on it with her humorous and considerate personality. You have been a star this week Alysia, continue to keep up the amazing work!
